WALLACECAMERON

Wallace Cameron has developed a new range of innovative eyewash and plaster dispensers for the workplace. The two new emergency eyewash stations offer the new innovation of semi-automatic opening. This ensures the 500ml eyewash bottles are ready for immediate use. It is so simple and easy to use - just twist the yellow handle 180° and the bottle automatically opens and drops into the holder ready for use.

What to use in emergency eyecare

Eyecare is one of the most important areas which can be potentially serious in the workplace. Most eye injuries are preventable. Ensure any eye protection and precautions advised in the workplace are used. Most eye injuries benefit from being gently irrigated or flushed out.

How does eyecare work?

Saline Eyewash - contains Sodium Chloride B.P. 0.9% w/v to help flush out foreign objects.

Steriflow Eyewash - contains a phosphate buffer. This can be used if the eye is splashed with acid or alkali. The buffer immediately forms a barrier between the surface of the eye and the foreign substance eliminating further damage. This will also restore the eye to natural p.H.

Do you have chemicals in the workplace?

Disinfectant, Bleach, Acid or Alkali?

If so you should have steriflow just incase...

Eyewash containing a phosphate buffer can be used if the eye is splashed with acid or alkali. The buffer immediately forms a barrier between the surface of the eye and the foreign substance eliminating further damage. This will also return the eye to normal p.H.

Acop 3(40) 2009

If mains tap water is not readily available for eye irrigation, at least a litre of sterile water or sterile normal saline (0.9%) in sealed, disposable containers should be provided. Once the seal has been broken, containers should not be kept for reuse. Containers should not be used beyond their expiry date.
